“ Our deepest sympathy to all family and friends of this dear outspoken man. He was fun-loving, family devoted, and totally professionally committed to his career before retirement. I was blessed to be his first hire in Purchasing at the start-up of Cincinnati Milacron, Inc., Industrial Robot Division, in Greenwood. He trusted me without micro-management to perform my responsibilities and only keep him informed for intervention support. He always treated me with respect and appreciation for a job well done. His management of Shipping and Receiving, Production Control and Purchasing truly felt like a TEAM.

Bob was a man full of funny stories of Cincinnati experiences and adaptation to the Greenwood social and cultural differences. He loved Greenwood and all of his friends.

I always compared other bosses to this man. He was always my best Manager in the way he trusted his team to give all to their common goals, guided them for cohesion, and exemplified loyalty to his company..

He fought cancer for so many years without self-pity, kept a positive attitude, and was a role model in his fight.

My heartfelt love goes out to his children and the care and comfort they provided his last days. I was blessed to hear his stories of love for his family, and regrets he had as a career oriented parent. His family was his most cherished possession.
