“ I met your dad at Wesley Commons. My wife's parents, Fred and Elinor Shaner, were residents. I happened upon your dad, playing solitaire on the computer, and we struck up a conversation. This became a friendship. We would share a laugh; a golf story or one on life's adventures during our visits to Wesley Commons from Durham, NC. I last saw Pat in 2018, watching the Masters and having a cocktail with one of his daughters. I always felt better after spending time with Pat. He is one of the people that you are both thankful and glad to meet in the course of one's life.

“ Mary and I enjoyed our visits with Pat around the Sunday lunch table following our attendance at Church and Sunday School. He was a good story teller. We loved his musical talent, his beautiful bass voice and understanding of music. His brain power was impressive and he was trained and selected to pilot an large bomber for the USA when he was 19. He had a deep faith and love to share prayers and helpful thoughts.

“ I met Pat in the 70s. On a visit to his home in Walkill, Pat, a former ballplayer, dug up two Charlie-Brown-type gloves (5 fingers, no pocket, no webbing). We played catch and he was throwing knuckleballs at me. I wasn't sure if I was coming out unscathed. I enjoyed watching ballgames with him; he could predict the next pitch with uncanny accuracy.

Pat was a wonderful gentleman and will be greatly missed.

“ Love, admiration & respect for this man. So glad I met him before health issues overtook his life. I'll never forget our conversations over dinner & his stories about his life of service, first in the military (an experience we shared) & then as a prison guard. His sense of humor was infectious, despite his “grumpy old man” facade. A straight shooter with a gentle heart. RIP, Mr Poole. You will be missed. Deepest sympathy to family & friends.
